

Annual Conference of the European Association of Psychology and Law, 2019

Santiago de Compostela, July 17-20, 2019
Facultad de Psicología, Santiago de Compostela (Spain)

Application form for symposium

General Abstract

Title of the symposium (Maximum 14 words)*:

Number of presentations* (5 or 6 at the most):

Convener* (Name and Surname):

Convener affiliation* (e.g., University, Institution, private practice):

E-mail for correspondence (professional)*:

Keywords* (4 or 5 keywords identifying the symposium scope):

Abstract*

(Length: a maximum of 5000 characters is preferred. Construction: the abstract must be clear to read and easy to understand for attendants what's the presentation about. General abstract must be written in a correct English* AND in other language —only Portuguese or Spanish— when symposium was in other language —all abstracts and presentations must be in the same language. Contents: symposium issue, aims of the presentations, general results and a brief discussion of the implications for practice or knowledge of the presentations (emphasize the practical implications). Finally, list the references of the presentations to the symposium (follow APA style).

*Mandatory fields

First presentation

Title of the proposal (Maximum 14 words)*:

Authors* (Name and Surname):

Presenting author*:

Affiliation* (e.g., University, Institution, Private Practice):

E-mail for correspondence (professional)*:

Keywords* (4 or 5 keywords identifying the presentation scope):

Abstract*

(Length: a maximum of 5000 characters is preferred. Construction: the abstract must be clear to read and easy to understand for attendees what's the presentation about. Abstracts must be written in a correct English OR in other language —only Portuguese or Spanish— when symposium was in other language —all abstracts and presentations must be in the same language. Sentences should flow logically. Contents: Study purpose; Participants (brief description)/protocols; Method; Results and Conclusions (emphasize the practical implications).

Second presentation

Title of the proposal (Maximum 14 words)*:

Authors* (Name and Surname):

Presenting author*:

Affiliation* (e.g., University, Institution, Private Practice):

E-mail for correspondence (professional)*:

Keywords* (4 or 5 keywords identifying the presentation scope):

Abstract*

(Length: a maximum of 5000 characters is preferred. Construction: the abstract must be clear to read and easy to understand for attendees what's the presentation about. Abstracts must be written in a correct English OR in other language —only Portuguese or Spanish— when symposium was in other language —all abstracts and presentations must be in the same language. Sentences should flow logically. Contents: Study purpose; Participants (brief description)/protocols; Method; Results and Conclusions (emphasize the practical implications).

Third presentation

Title of the proposal (Maximum 14 words)*:

Authors* (Name and Surname):

Presenting author*:

Affiliation* (e.g., University, Institution, Private Practice):

E-mail for correspondence (professional)*:

Keywords* (4 or 5 keywords identifying the presentation scope):

Abstract*

(Length: a maximum of 5000 characters is preferred. Construction: the abstract must be clear to read and easy to understand for attendees what's the presentation about. Abstracts must be written in a correct English OR in other language —only Portuguese or Spanish— when symposium was in other language —all abstracts and presentations must be in the same language. Sentences should flow logically. Contents: Study purpose; Participants (brief description)/protocols; Method; Results and Conclusions (emphasize the practical implications).

Fourth presentation

Title of the proposal (Maximum 14 words)*:

Authors* (Name and Surname):

Presenting author*:

Affiliation* (e.g., University, Institution, Private Practice):

E-mail for correspondence (professional)*:

Keywords* (4 or 5 keywords identifying the presentation scope):

Abstract*

(Length: a maximum of 5000 characters is preferred. Construction: the abstract must be clear to read and easy to understand for attendees what's the presentation about. Abstracts must be written in a correct English OR in other language —only Portuguese or Spanish— when symposium was in other language —all abstracts and presentations must be in the same language. Sentences should flow logically. Contents: Study purpose; Participants (brief description)/protocols; Method; Results and Conclusions (emphasize the practical implications).

Fifth presentation

Title of the proposal (Maximum 14 words)*:

Authors* (Name and Surname):

Presenting author*:

Affiliation* (e.g., University, Institution, Private Practice):

E-mail for correspondence (professional)*:

Keywords* (4 or 5 keywords identifying the presentation scope):

Abstract*

(Length: a maximum of 5000 characters is preferred. Construction: the abstract must be clear to read and easy to understand for attendees what's the presentation about. Abstracts must be written in a correct English OR in other language —only Portuguese or Spanish— when symposium was in other language —all abstracts and presentations must be in the same language. Sentences should flow logically. Contents: Study purpose; Participants (brief description)/protocols; Method; Results and Conclusions (emphasize the practical implications).

Sixth presentation

Title of the proposal (Maximum 14 words)*:

Authors* (Name and Surname):

Presenting author*:

Affiliation* (e.g., University, Institution, Private Practice):

E-mail for correspondence (professional)*:

Keywords* (4 or 5 keywords identifying the presentation scope):

Abstract*

(Length: a maximum of 5000 characters is preferred. Construction: the abstract must be clear to read and easy to understand for attendees what's the presentation about. Abstracts must be written in a correct English OR in other language —only Portuguese or Spanish— when symposium was in other language —all abstracts and presentations must be in the same language. Sentences should flow logically. Contents: Study purpose; Participants (brief description)/protocols; Method; Results and Conclusions (emphasize the practical implications).